

Stay up to date with the latest news, vendors, postings & buzz on Prepare to Wed on the PTW blog. Prepare to Wed is revolutionizing the way weddings are planned by catering to your needs & vision...it's the ultimate wedding resource and vendor directory designed by a wedding planner for chic & savvy brides and grooms.

Revolutionizing how weddings are planned.

- Home
- PTW Favorites
- Advice
- Inspiration
- Real Weddings
- Vendor Interviews
- PTW Giveaways

February 8th, 2011

Getting Hitched in Massachusetts | Esq. Events

There's so much to think about soon after you get engaged — what style dress do I want, what will our flowers be, who will be in our wedding party? Of course these are all things you are going to need to tackle, though something that should be first on your list is considering your venue. Some venues get booked out years in advanced so you may want to prepare yourself in advance that flexibility in your date and location is key to keeping calm.

Jennifer Cox of Esq. Events is perfect to chat with when it comes to starting the venue search if you're wanting to get married in Massachusetts:

There are hundred of reasons to get married in Massachusetts, but one of the best reasons is the extreme variety in such a small state. Whether you are looking for a modern urban fete, a coastal soiree or a mountain-top party amongst Berkshire foliage; Massachusetts is the premier wedding destination for all couples no matter what their style and desires. Massachusetts has four distinct regions that offer their own special and unique wedding venues and experiences: Western Massachusetts, Central Massachusetts, Cape Cod and the Boston area.

Western Massachusetts features the Berkshire Mountains and the charming towns of the Connecticut River Valley. Chandler's Restaurant in South Deerfield, Massachusetts is the perfect location for an intimate restaurant reception full of wine, history and Yankee Candle. Its also a great location for a shower or pre-wedding event. For couples seeking a more traditional resort experience, nothing compares to luxe amenities and sweeping vistas of the Cranwell Resort and Spa. Hotels, bed & breakfasts, halls and barns dot the western part of the state, however couples should be cognizant of the Boston Symphony's Summer schedule at Tanglewood when picking their date.

Although many couples head to Central Massachusetts for rustic barn ceremonies and receptions like those offered at Zukas Hilltop Barn and Harrington Farm; my preference is to focus on the architecture. Tuckerman Hall, designed by a female architect, was originally built in 1902 for the Worcester Woman's Club. Recently renovated and owned by the Massachusetts Symphony Orchestra, this stunning triangular building is now available for rent for private functions. Also located in downtown Worcester is Mechanics Hall. Built in 1857, this is another fabulous Central Massachusetts venue with amazing architectural details and a healthy amount of gold-leaf

